High Concept

Use your daily habits, routines and tasks to improve on this RPG that uses your real life as source of experience and gold!

RPGfy my life can be on every platform, but the main goal is to be on mobile so it can be with you all the time!

Gameplay

RPGfy my Life will be a classical turn based RPG heavily inspired on the classics of the genre, such as Pokemon and early Final Fantasies.

The difference is that experience and gold are earned by real life tasks - which can be divided in habits, dailies and to dos. An inspiration for this is Habitica.

Experience is used to evolve your character and money is used to buy items and lootboxes (gives random items), the possibility of buying fashion stuff is under decision.

Story

The game will proceed with a story just like a regular TBRPG.

It's still under decision the theme, setting and if the history will be related to habits, productivity or not.

Why It Needs to Be Made

Turn Based RPGs are a good fit for mobiles and are engaging more and more players as time goes by. Apps that gamify your life exists and add an extra flavor to productivity and discipline.

But there isn't something that mix both worlds.

Final Thoughts

RPGfy my life can be a fun game that will also help you to boost your discipline, productivity and to get things done!
